

RELEASE AGREEMENT

(for Purchase of Rejuvi Tattoo Remover)

Firm/professional name _____ located at _____ hereafter referred to as "Releasor".

Releasor confirms that its business practice is related to permanent makeup and tattooing or adequate medical practice with sufficient experience.

Releasor fully understands that Rejuvi Tattoo Removal technique is a cosmetic procedure to lighten or diminish the tattoo pigments.

Although this technique is gentle and effective, however, it still has some possible risk of inflammation after treatment, scarring, hypertrophy and hypo-pigmentation depending upon how the tattoo was made previously and individuality of the skin type & tolerance.

Painaway is the topical anesthetic used in Rejuvi Tattoo Removal study and is very compatible chemically to Rejuvi tattoo Remover. Some other anesthetics (both topical & injectable) are reported to cause serious problems with Rejuvi Tattoo Removal. Painaway is strongly recommended to be used with Rejuvi Tattoo Removal. Other anesthetics are used at your own risk.

Releasor agrees to follow Rejuvi instructions/directions to carefully perform the removal treatment. Releasor agrees to give the "After Care" instruction to the customers with thorough explanation.

Releasor further agrees to explain the above possible risk to its customers and have the customer to sign a Consent Form and Medical History Form. The Photos before & after the treatment should be taken as treatment documents.

Releasor understands that a treatment may not achieve the final outcome of this procedure and it may take several applications to achieve the desired results and no warranty or guaranty is made as to the final result. Releasor acknowledges that if prior Laser or other treatments have been used for tattoo removal of the considered area, the Rejuvi method might not have a good success rate due to possible changes for skin tissue or tattoo pigments and other complication induced by the previous treatments.

Releasor does hereby releases and indemnifies Rejuvi Laboratory Inc., its employees, agents and suppliers, manufacturers which might be claimed to be liable to Releasor and releasor's customers from all claims and damages, actions, lawsuit, particularly on account of any injury or dissatisfaction with results.
